GONE NORTH FOR HEALTH

Editor M. D. Orr Left Today for Northern Michigan - Will be Gone Indefinitely

It is with regret that we are called upon to chronicle the fact that the Editor of The Times is compelled to give up his newspaper labors in Owosso and seek a climate which will be beneficial to his health.

Lieut. Orr was gassed while in overseas service since which time his lungs have been in a weakened condition and for some time past has been gradually getting worse.

A consultation of doctors have advised that he should give up all work and worry and get out in the open in a more rarified atmosphere. He left this forenoon for northern Michigan where he will enjoy camp life for a few weeks, and later intends to hike for the most northern point in the upper peninsula. His stay will be indefinite.

The writer, Mr. Whitney, joins with Mr. Orr's very many friends in Owosso and vicinity in praying for the speedy recovery of his health.

He assures us that The Times readers will hear from him frequently. What interests him will interest us. If he doesn't keep his promise we shall stop his paper so that he won't know what we are doing down here where it's hot.

HELLO FOLKS

We wish to make the announcement that during the absence of Editor Orr, as noted above, the undersigned has been engaged to act as Publisher and business manager of the Times and will carry out the policies that have gained for Mr. Orr so many friends in Owosso and vicinity. Being a stranger in the city we shall deem it a great favor if you can assist us in any way. If you know of any item of interest to Times readers just lift the receiver and call 34. Give us a "tip" and a reporter will be on the job.

Owing to there being another O. C. Whitney in Owosso we have added an "H" to our cognomen. What it stands for we will leave to your good judgment.

Who is the writer? Well, he was born and raised in Caledonia, Kent county. Learned the trade on the Caledonia News and was later Editor and Publisher of the same for about ten years. For the past fifteen years he has been working on newspapers and in job offices in the city of Lansing. "Nuff said." Thank you.

O. H. C. WHITNEY, Pub.

A good bunch of news items this week were sent out of the city to be set on machines. The metal did not arrive in time to be used in this issue. As we did not have time to reset them by hand it has left us rather flat for news. We beg your indulgence and hope it will not "happen again." Thank you.

Women Spring Surprise

Corunna women voters sprung a surprise on the school board of that city Monday evening when they swooped down on the meeting and carried their candidate, Mrs. Lester, over the opposition, who supported Samuel Kerty. Mrs. Thompson also caused the "old guard" to sweat when she gave William Notnagel as close a race as ever had Wally Reid in his famous auto-racing pictures.

The women kept their plans secret until the last minute and then invaded the meeting place. The men could not find enough supporters to offset the comp, and were carried down to defeat.

Corunna adopted a budget of $17,500, which was spread on the tax roll. A mill tax will amount to approximately $1000.

Mr. Young gave a very able address assuring his hearers that if nominated and elected he would attend to the business of his constituents as he would his own and that all classes would receive the same courteous attention.

Otto Hildebrandt, representing the typographical union of Lansing, gave a very interesting talk. He stated that the powers that be on both papers issued an ultimatum to their employees that after June 30 their services would be no longer required and the shops would thereafter be conducted on the open shop or "American plan." The boys are putting up a stiff clean fight. It is stated that 70 per cent of the boys locked out are taxpayers.
